George said the catch was some compensation for numerous days when fishing had not been so good.

REDS BLOCKADE FINNISH COAST

 Britain Will Support
 Finns In Protest To League Of Nations
By JOE ALEX MORRIS
U. P. Foreign News Editor

Europe's warring nations make an important appeal to world opinion tomorrow when the League of Nations hears Finland's charges of aggression by Soviet Russia.

In the air, on the seas and on the battlefronts, the war goes on. The Red navy advised neutrals that a blockade of the Finnish coast was being inaugurated while the Red army pounded at the defenses of southeast Finland, advanced slowly against repeated counter attacks on the Arctic coast and shoved to a point almost 50 miles deep in the center of Finland in an effort to cut the country in two.

On the western front, too, the war went on with suddenly increased tempo. German bombing planes were reported turned back in a flight toward Paris.

Polish guerrilla bands were reported operating in the Carpathians on a scale that prompted Germany to send around 60,000 men to clean up those areas.

The British, it was asserted in London, will support any practical proposal before the League for penalties against Russia because of the Red army invasion of Finland. That would include support for the Argentine proposal to expel the Soviets from the League.

P. T. A. Defers Fruit "Drive"

 Girl Scout Members
 Demonstrate Work At Meeting On Thursday

The annual canned fruit solicitation of Placerville Parent-Teacher Association will be deferred until after the Christmas holidays, it was determined at a meeting of the executive board Thursday afternoon.

The board met with Mrs. Mildred Lefever, president, in the principal's office at the grammar school immediately before the general membership meeting.

In the larger meeting, Mrs. Mildred Blair explained the annual Christmas Seal Sale and following her talk the meeting was given over to Mrs. Helen Neal program chairman.

Pupils of the seventh grade sang several numbers, directed by Miss Jane Buerkel, after which Mrs. Henry Morey, Girl Scout leader, explained the nature and purpose of the Girl Scout organization and then presented the members of the Placerville troop, who conducted a ceremony investing Joyce St. John and Shirley Brook in membership.

Then, Lois Neal, Sylvia Austin and Patricia Conley told of some of the Girl Scout activities.

Sixth grade mothers, with Mrs. Frank Romberg as chairman, were hostesses at an informal social period at which refreshments of cookies and tea were served.

EARLY LAYING PULLETS OFTEN MAKE BEST BREEDING STOCK

Poultrymen should realize that those pullets which start laying early and show a fairly high rate of production during the first three months of the laying year are apt to prove the best breeding stock, according to I. W. Lilley, farm advisor representing the University of California Agricultural Service in El Dorado county.

Recommendations were also offered for handling of the other birds in the flock. Later-maturing birds that have good physical development should also be placed in pens by themselves, according to Lilley. They can then be forced along by use of more stimulating feeds and perhaps by use of electric lights.

The rest of the flock, says Lilley, will then be made up of culls which should be sold immediately. Experience has shown that they will never become profitable commercial birds.

CIVIC AND FRATERNAL GROUPS MEET ON WELFARE NEEDS

 Conference Reveals Official Department
 Doing Excellent Work, Special Charities
 Should Clear Through Local Office

Representatives of religious, civic, fraternal and other organizations of the county met Thursday night at the courthouse for a conference on general problems, called at the instance of the Placerville Soroptomist Club.

There were two net results of the meeting:

1. The chairman, Wallace M. Ripley, was asked to name a committee to investigate the need for a "community chest" or some other such organization in the county; and,

2. The members of the conference learned that the regular and ordinary welfare requirements of the county are being supplied through official channels.

In this connection, it also was brought out that at such times of the year as special activity is undertaken, such as the distribution of Christmas baskets, it may be to the advantage of the donors and the recipients of the local welfare agencies are consulted in connection with such distributions.

The general subject was laid before the meeting by Mrs. Lucille Wudell, Soroptomist Club president.

Among others who spoke were the Rev. Rex A. Barron, Father M. J. Myles, Supervisor P. J. Hall, T. S. Marlor, Mrs. Helen Byrnes and Mrs. B. E. Larson.

Mr. Ripley said Friday morning that he expects soon to name a committee as requested by the meeting, and that presumably a second meeting will be called at such time as the committee is prepared to report.

Some of those who were present pointed out that although the broad program of relief and welfare is carried out under official supervision, there is a problem presented by transient indigents who seem to present numerous pleas for assistance.

In relation to the "community chest" suggestion, it also was suggested that the creation of an official aspect for the little charities in which many in the community indulge would remove the personal interest in giving or would complicate the problem of including in special charities in a field in which it appears the subsistence welfare requirements are being adequately met through official agencies.

BERLIN, (UP)—German beer is to be thinner by order of the Brewers Association, it was made known today, "because of the necessities of war."

TROJANS HOLD BETTING EDGE

 103,000 To See Bruins
 Battle For Conference
 Grid Title Saturday

By RONALD WAGONER

United Press Staff Correspondent
 LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Southern California's Trojans and UCLA's Bruins put the final touches on aerial attacks today for the football gigantic tomorrow that will send one of them to the Rose Bowl.

Convinced that the crucial game will be won through the air, both USC's Howard Jones and UCLA's Babe Horrell have drilled their squads on pass defense this week with final light workouts today.

With the Pacific coast crown and the coveted New Year's Day bid hanging on the game's outcome, a capacity crowd of 103,000 was expected to jam the Memorial Coliseum. All but 1000 of the tickets had been sold today, with scalpers getting from $10 to $15 for choicest seats.

The Trojans, blessed with a line averaging 206 from end to end and a backfield crammed with stars, are favored at odds of nearly 2 to 1, to land in the Rosebowl again. Much of the wise money is down on the Bruins, however, in hopes their sudden deceptive scoring thrusts will click against USC as they have against the rest of the conference.

Coach Howard Jones, expecting the Bruins' speedy Jackie Robinson to be his biggest headache tomorrow, conscripted Trojan track Captain Patton Jordan and Mickey Anderson to practice this week, using them to simulate the fleet-footed Negro star on end runs.

USC, conqueror of Notre Dame and Washington in the past two weeks, will be missing but one first string player, tackle Bob DeLauer, who is out with an injured knee. Although All-American Guard Harry Smith will start the game, Coach Jones said he would be taken out shortly because of a weak ankle injured in the Washington game.

UCLA's chances against the Trojan juggernaut depend on the same explosive offense that has put the Bruins near the peak of the conference. In six out of nine games this season, UCLA came from behind to either win or tie, and held the upper hand against only Montana and Texas Christian in the early stages of the play. The Bruins were deadlocked three times this year, with Stanford, Santa Clara, and Oregon State.

Statistically, the Trojans have the edge on UCLA, with an average of 320 yards gained in their eight games this season, compared with the Bruins' 281, with their gains from passes averaging 122 yards with but 76 gained by UCLA.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., (UP)—If you've ever watched the horse of your choice standing wrong way around with a far away glint in his eyes while his rivals bounced out of their starting stalls like frightened gazelles, then listen to the news given me today by one of the world's outstanding turf experts.

The gentleman's name is Morphe McGinnity and I know he is an expert because he wears a checkered coat, speaks out of the side of his mouth and refers to Herbert Bayard Swope as "me buddy, Holb."

McGinnity says the starting gate Corrigan has been cured for good. He goes farther than that. McGinnity says a horse no longer can start a race on a tangent, no longer can beat the gate and no longer can keep upward of 25,000 people stamping their feet impatiently while the assistant starters pull and tug at him for 15 minutes while he is brought into position.

For electricity, like love, has conquered even the most stubborn of the bad post actors. The electricity has been injected into the old wooden gates. Bomb releases, trap doors and enough other gadgets have been added to outfit each individual stall as cozy as a one-room apartment with kitchenette. Steam heat and Frigidaires can be added according to the season.

There have been many men watch their horses nap at the barrier, including ourselves, but not until Claude Puett watched one was the matter taken seriously in hand. Mr. Puett and several engineers from a Los Angeles airplane factory pooled their cash and their ingenuity and in two years developed what was known as the Puett gate.

The principle is a simple one. Each stall is equipped with a wire mesh door and a V-shaped back. Once a horse is back into the stall, the door is snapped shut and the horse can neither rear nor charge. The V-back keeps him in perfect alignment until the starter presses a button which swings open all the doors simultaneously and gives every horse an even break. The doors are synchronized and are released by bomb locks when the current is turned on.

Despite its obvious advantages, the Puett device was greeted by the American turfmen with all the warmth usually shown a rattle-snake. The race track operators stared at it so icily that the inventors took the hint and the gate to Canada. They experimented with it on half mile tracks at Vancouver until they were sure of their product, then went to Longacres in Seattle.

There the gate established itself as the greatest turf invention since the introduction of the totalizer. Post times were cut down to a minute and almost a flat 100 per cent of all starts were good. Next it was taken to Bay Meadows and then to Pimlico in Baltimore where Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt adopted it wholehearted.

TODAY'S PROFILE

By UNITED PRESS

Heading Finland's fighting forces as the little country faces the armed might of Soviet Russia, is Field Marshal Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, 72-year-old hero of Finland's war for independence.

At the close of January, 1918, in the midst of the World War, came word that a revolution had broken out in Finland. Socialist workers and Russian Bolsheviks had taken up arms against the government that had been recognized by the Scandinavian countries.

Germany and France. Soon thereafter was the news that the Civic Guard under General Mannerheim had disarmed the Russian troops. That was Mannerheim's introduction to the world. Who was this military leader? Finland proudly supplied the answer. He belonged to one of the foremost noble families of the country, whose forebears had fought valiantly as soldiers and had served well as statesmen. Mannerheim had served more than 30 years in the Russian Czarist army. He fought in the Russo-Japanese war, had led an important scientific expedition through Central Asia, and had fought in the World War on the Polish, Galician, Bukovinian and Bessarabian fronts. He was a cavalry officer.

Returning to his homeland, Mannerheim was appointed commander-in-chief of the recently organized Civic Guards. His leadership of this unit of raw peasant troops forms one of the glorious pages in Finnish history. When the revolution came, he was determined to drive Russian troops from the country. From January to May, 1918, the fighting raged. Then on May 16, Mannerheim and his victorious army marched into the capital city of Helsinki amid the cheers of a jubilant populace.

The war, while civil in character, is considered in Finland as a war for independence, as it threw off the last traces of the Russian yoke. Mannerheim was born on June 4, 1867, and was reared in the school of the soldier. His talent as an organizer as well as field commander was proved in his successful campaign in 1918. He is a man of iron will, with a chivalrous spirit and known for his personal charm.

The grizzled old warrior, who was also known as the "White General," always demanded that Finland have a strong government. He remained aloof from the dispute between the monarchists and republicans in 1918-19. When K. J. Stahlberg was elected president of Finland in 1919 and the affairs of the little nation became more serene, Mannerheim retired to private life. But when P. E. Svinhufvud was named president in 1931, he was called to head the council of defense. In that capacity he developed and strengthened the country's armed forces.

For this work Mannerheim was made a field marshal in 1933—the first man in the country's history to hold that title.

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "Understanding spiritual law and knowing that there is no material law, Jesus said: 'These signs shall follow them that believe, . . . they shall take up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them. ## FIVE MILE TERRACE

The late Marl Carlson was descended of pioneer parents who came to America from Norway in 1852 and crossed the plains to Utah, where Mrs. Carlson was born on October 25, 1859. Her parents came to California a year after her birth, the family locating about ten miles east of Placerville and then, in a short time, moving to the Johnson place, where they lived for some time. Mr. Larsen (Mrs. Carlson's father) being employed by Mr. Johnson. Subsequently Mr. Larsen bought the old Johnson Tavern and later acquired land from the Blakeleys. Mr. Carlson has deeds showing this transaction, dated in 1866. In 1873 Mr. N. T. E. Larsen homesteaded the property and the family has lived on the property continuously.

There will be a meeting of the Blair's District P. T. A. at the schoolhouse at 3 o'clock Friday, December 8. This is the regular meeting and will be an important one as holiday plans will be made at this time. Mrs. Arthur Blair, of Placerville, will give a short talk on Christmas Seals and the work of the Tuberculosis Association. All members and friends are invited to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hennings received word last Thursday of the death of Mrs. Hennings' brother, William Lee, in Sacramento. The Hennings family, with Mrs. Will Martin, of Camino, mother of the deceased, attended the funeral at Sacramento on Saturday afternoon. William was thirty-nine years of age and spent the early years of his life in El Dorado County. He leaves four children, Mrs. Lee having passed away about a year ago. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Quiberg and children were down from the 29-mile ranger station on Sunday to visit Rex's mother, Mrs. Linda J. Miller, and brought the family a beautiful Christmas tree. Albert Carlson was a dinner guest at the Leavitt home on Sunday. Mrs. Al Stanley, who was confinied to her home for a week with a bad cold, is able to be out. Visiting her on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker and daughter, of Ringgold.

Mrs. Alec Revaz was also a Sunday visitor at the Stanley home.

Gene Ward was home over the weekend to visit his family, coming up from Benicia on Friday and returning on Monday morning. His left hand, which was seriously injured in a planing mill accident several weeks ago, is improving but Mr. Ward is still under a doctor's care.

News has just been received in this community of the death of Mrs. Emma Chesmore at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Serene, in Bremerton, Washington. Mrs. Chesmore was beloved by everyone here for her kind and neighborly spirit and she has been greatly missed by all her friends since she left here following the death of her husband, Clarence Chesmore, last Spring. The deepest sympathy is extended to the relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leavitt, Jim McKinstry and the Leavitt children spent Sunday in Auburn with Walter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leavitt.

MISSOURI FLAT

The community dinner at the hall on Thursday evening, November 30, was a grand success. Dinner was served at seven o'clock — a real Thanksgiving one — turkey and its accompaniments. The long tables were decorated with chrysanthemums, roses and tapers in harmony with the color scheme of orchid, yellow, rose and white. The entire community was invited and with guests from Placerville and other nearby towns we estimate the number served at about two hundred. Mrs. Juvenal delivered a Thanksgiving prayer preceding the dinner. Later tables were moved out to make room for entertainment and dancing. Music was graciously furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hardy and continued until 11 o'clock. The co-operative spirit of everyone who worked to make this gathering the success it was is commendable and convinces us that we shall be having bigger and better community affairs in the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Sweeney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davey, at Garden Valley. J. E. Nalamphy spent the weekend with his son and family, returning to Oakland on Monday. Mrs. Nalamphy, Sr., who has been undergoing treatment in an Oakland hospital, is reported as doing nicely.

Miss Isabel Long, who is attending business college in Sacramento, came up for the weekend with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Long. Mrs. Bert Gordon and children, of Camino, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pine, of Georgetown, were visitors at the Charles E. Pine home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hook and Bud Hale, of Sacramento, were visitors at the Miller home on Sunday. The men tried their luck at quail hunting but were unsuccessful.

Mrs. James Sweeney and Marie Miller were in Placerville on Monday afternoon.

There is to be a dance at the hall on Saturday night, December 9th — Hardy orchestra — so trot out your dancing shoes and come along.

The PLACERVILLE REPUBLICAN Published Every Evening Except Saturdays, Sundays and Legal Holidays Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office, at Placerville, Calif. under Act of Congress, Mar. 3, 1879

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jones, of San Francisco, were Wednesday morning callers at the A. L. Miller home. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Leahy, of Coalinga, arrived Wednesday to spend their vacation at the Miller Ranch. Mr. Leahy is a nephew of Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Speegle expected to make a flying trip to Sacramento on Wednesday. Hope your hand will soon be all right, Art, and, in the future—stay away from the "kissing bugs."

Designed For Good Living

This well-planned Ohio house, newly built, provides ample living quarters for the medium-sized family. The unfinished room above the built-in garage will enable enlargement of the livable area into additional bed-rooms, play-rooms, studio room, or whatnot. The Federal Housing Administration, whose inspections assured conformance with the original specifications, insured the $6,500 mortgage, after a property appraisal of $8,750 had been established.

This is an advertisement to tell you (all advertisements are to tell you something) that you can save a lot of time and money by reading the advertisements in this paper. Because then you'll know where to look for best quality and biggest value.

But shucks! You're probably one of those wise shoppers who reads the advertisements every day! Aren't you?
